Turkey Prices To Be Lower This Season

Housewives do not need to be apprehensive over the price or the availability of turkey for the Thanksgiving feast, a government expert revealed.

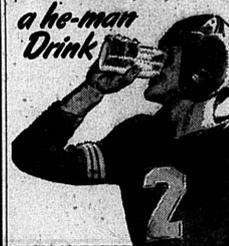

"The California crop is just about normal," said L. B. Sanborn, assistant county farm adviser, "and in addition there is a large holdover of cold storage turkey. The cold storage hold over has dropped from 135,000,000 pounds in February to 47,000,000 pounds in October, but that still is a lot of turkey. Counting both storage and live birds, there seems to be about 4 1/2 pounds available for each person."

Sanborn called attention to the fact that since the lifting of red meat controls the price of turkey meat has dropped even more than that of chicken. Dressed tom turkey was selling in Los Angeles for 38-45 cents a pound to retailers. Dealers look for a possible retail price of 34 cents before Thanksgiving day.

BUEN RAGS

Automobile owners are cautioned to keep greasy rags cleaned out of the garage at all times, as they constitute one of the most serious fire hazards.

MILK
a lie-man Drink!

Milk is the number one food requirement of athletes who have to work hard and play hard. For milk is a muscle-builder! It is a most valuable source of the vitamins, minerals and amino acids necessary in building strong, healthy bodies, supplying reserve energy, and developing keen vision and steady nerves. On the athlete's table or the family table, MILK, even at twice the price, would still be your best "food buy!"

L. A. SKYSCRAPER TO RISE

First height-limit skyscraper to rise in Los Angeles in more than a decade will be the block-long $5,000,000 General Petroleum building at 6th and Flower Sts., shown in this artist's drawing. Construction begins in July, 1947.

County Reviving Of Incinerator Program Planned

Further consideration of the complaints based on the operation of the dumps at Imperial and 120th street was given by the Board of Supervisors at its Wednesday meeting and on motion of Supervisor Raymond V. Dickey, a report and recommendation on the size, cost and location of an incinerator which would be of sufficient capacity to take care of all of the combustible material now being cared for at these dumps and that when such report is received that an appropriation be made to build such an incinerator.

It was conceded that such an incinerator is the only feasible means of bringing relief to the residents of the community surrounding these dumps and to the cities and unincorporated territory using them for disposal of their combustible rubbish. It was also recognized that such an incinerator to be adequate might cost from $400,000 to $500,000 but the urgency of the need would justify such expenditure even out of tax monies, if no other method could be found for financing such a program.

OIL LIMIT

Motorists are cautioned to keep the oil in the crankcase at least to the half full mark. Despite the general use of pressure lubricating systems, modern cars take more engine cooling than their predecessors, with the result that a limited amount of oil will soon be overworked. It has been found that general oil consumption will increase as the quantity in the crankcase decreases.

G.P. Will Have New Building In Los Angeles

Construction of the first height-limit building to be erected in metropolitan Los Angeles for more than a decade will be undertaken in the near future by General Petroleum Corporation, western affiliate of the Socony-Vacuum Oil Company, it was announced by S. J. Dickey, president of the corporation.

The completely modern office building will be a half block deep and will front on the east side of Flower street for an entire block, extending from Sixth st. to Wilshire blvd. Representing an overall investment to exceed $5,000,000, the building will consist of a street floor and 12 additional stories.

Start of construction is contemplated about July, 1947, and Mr. Dickey emphasized that construction of the new building will not be permitted to interfere with veterans' building program.

Upwards of 1,200 General Petroleum employees will occupy administrative offices while some surplus floor space and street floor stores will be offered for rent. Mr. Dickey revealed. In addition, a garage building will be erected on property owned by General Petroleum at the northwest corner of Eighth and Flower streets to service the office building, thus relieving parking and traffic congestion.

Plans for the huge building project are being drawn by the architectural firm of Wurdeman and Becket, and the P. J. Walker Company will be the contractors. Negotiations for acquisition of the building site were conducted by Guy C. Wilson Jr., of R. A. Rowan and Company, selling principals with James Oviatt, Mabel S. Hart and Lewis Guerrieri.

400 Quonset Huts Available For Shops And Barns

More than 400 new quonset huts, originally offered to holders of housing priorities, are now on sale to certified veterans of World War II for shops, barns, garages and other agricultural and industrial uses as well as for homes, the War Assets Administration announced today.

The quonsets, priced at $1,063.80 each, and complete with bulkhead assemblies, doors, windows, screens and equipped with bolts and parts necessary for their erection, will be sold one to a customer. The structures are 20 by 48 feet in size and have six windows.

Veterans may be certified to buy the quonsets at the WAA Veterans Division, 3636 W. Beverly blvd. in Los Angeles. Due to variance in local building codes, veterans are urged by WAA to consult their community building departments before purchasing a quonset for residential use.

RUBBER PRODUCTION

Rubber plantations in formerly Japanese occupied territory in the Far East and Ceylon are quickly returning to normal production. 1946 will see approximately 600,000 long tons produced with 950,000 expected in 1947. Potential capacity, which should make motorists who have been traveling on worn out tires happy, is the 1,650,000 long tons a year which should be accomplished by 1948.

Hunting Party Reports Feeding Drone Member

There are venison steaks on several local tables this week. Councilman George Powell, Police Captain Ernie Ashton, Fireman Bob Moffitt, Charles Steigh, Bob Foote and Grant Barkdull returning from the Utah hunt, report bagging a total of seven deer during their eight-day camp. Both Steigh and Foote accounted for the extra count, each bagging two.

The five hunters were members of a local party of six—and therein lies a story. The sixth member of the party, Mayor J. Hugh Sherfy, reports the only deer he saw were those tagged by the others. The Mayor did not go hungry, for it is said that three deer were eaten by the hunting party during the eight-day camp.

County Proposes Riding, Hiking Trails In Area

The chief mechanical engineer of the County of Los Angeles has conferred with various question organizations and the Regional Planning Commission on the matter of proposed county riding and hiking trails, but before necessary easements and rights of way can be obtained it is necessary that title search be secured covering these properties.

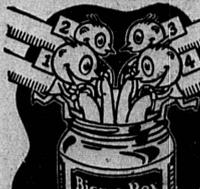

One principal trail of this nature is proposed for the Torrance, Redondo Beach, Palos Verdes area. On motion of Supervisor Raymond V. Darby, the Board authorized the county engineer to make the necessary title searches and prepare descriptions for use in obtaining the necessary easements and rights of way for these riding and hiking trails.

Poliomyelitis Drops Back To Normal Figure

The incidence of poliomyelitis in California has decreased steadily since August when the disease was at its peak, the State Department of Public Health reported.

Los Angeles County, where the epidemic was most serious during the summer, reports 13 cases of poliomyelitis for the week ending November 2, as compared with the figure of 162 for the week of August 31.

Tabulation of statistics on the summer outbreak in California shows a significantly low fatality rate, Dr. Wilton L. Halverson, state director of public health, announced.
